WHAT PROGRAMS WE OFFER

✓ Graphic Design Window Online
Available In English, Spanish, and Chinese

The goal of our Graphic Design Program is to further students' understanding of the basic objectives, principles, and methods used in graphic design. This program includes lectures, group discussions, presentations, and creative work. Students will also become familiarized with visual concepts and fundamental design; picturing, layering, and editing photos. The projects described are designed to provide students with a range of opportunities for creative thinking and artwork within practical constraints.

✓ Medical Insurance Biller and Coder Online
Available In English

The role of a medical billing and coding specialist in the healthcare industry is indispensable due to the process of workflow required by the revenue cycle. Our program will prepare students for work on the business side of doctor's offices, clinics, healthcare facilities, insurance companies and independent billing companies. We also offer an employment assistance/placement program that will provide professional work experience in conclusion to the course.

All classes are conducted using an online lecture format to demonstrate the software along with a discussion board for problem-solving discussion among peers.

✓ Computer Applications Online
Available In English, Spanish, and Chinese

Introduction to computer technology. Areas of focus include computer applications, integration of word processing, desktop publishing, spreadsheets, databases, presentation software, and the use of emerging technologies. Students will have the opportunity to acquire the skills needed to create, edit, and publish industry appropriate documents while also using oral and written communication to carry out informative research for reporting purposes.

✓ Computerized Accounting Online
Available Only in English

Our Accounting/QuickBooks Program provides students with the basic structure of accounting, bookkeeping, and QuickBook Software application training. This course will cover accounting procedures for typical businesses.
